Welcome to Skagit Transit. My name is Dale O'Brien and I've been serving as Skagit Transit's Executive Director since 2000. Service Animals

Under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), service animals must be harnessed, leashed or tethered, unless these devices interfere with the service animal's work or the individual's disability prevents using these devices. In that case, the individual must maintain control of the animal through voice, signal or other effective controls. Service animals that are not under control of their owner, do not behave in a manner consistent with a properly trained service animal, exhibit aggressive behavior(s) or present a health hazard may be asked to deboard the bus.

Drivers are required to permit any customer with a service animal to ride Skagit Transit buses. This includes animals-in-training accompanied by a trainer or person(s) with a disability.

The driver may ask if your animal is a service animal and what services it is trained to provide.

Service animals must remain on the floor without blocking the aisle, or on their owner's lap. No service animals are allowed to take up a seat.

Non-Service Animals

All animals that are not service animals must be in an approved pet carrier.

Animales de servicio

Según la Ley de estadounidenses con discapacidades (ADA, por sus siglas en inglés), los animales de servicio deben tener arnés o correa o bien ir atados, salvo que estos dispositivos interfieran con el trabajo del animal de servicio o la discapacidad de la persona impida su uso. En estos casos, la persona deberá mantener el control del animal con el uso de voz, señales u otras medidas de control eficaces. Se les podrá pedir que bajen del autobús a los dueños de animales de servicio que no sean controlados por su dueño, que no se comporten de la manera adecuada para un animal de servicio debidamente entrenado, que muestren comportamiento agresivo o que representen un peligro para la salud de los usuarios.

Los conductores están obligados a permitir que cualquier usuario con un animal de servicio pueda utilizar los servicios de Skagit Transit. Esto incluye a los animales en proceso de entrenamiento, acompañados por su entrenador o la(s) persona(s) con discapacidad.

El conductor podrá preguntar si el animal es de servicio y para qué servicio está entrenado.

Los animales de servicio deberán permanecer en el piso sin bloquear el pasillo o en las piernas de su dueño. Ningún animal de servicio tiene permitido ocupar un asiento.

Animales que no son de servicio

Todos los animales que no son de servicio deberán permanecer en una transportadora para mascotas aprobada.
